

Press Release

April 2007 – For Immediate Release

BOOSTCAP® Ultracapacitors now available from YEG Components

UK electronic components distributor YEG Components, are pleased to announce the availability of the PC range of Maxwell BOOSTCAP® Ultracapacitor Cells through their distribution centre in the UK.

Boostcaps feature an impressive 500,000 duty cycles with a 10 year life capability. Their hermetically sealed, stainless steel construction has a low profile, prismatic design with a higher energy vs. electrolytic. They have a higher power output compared to batteries which makes them the ideal solution for today's demanding environments such as automatic meter readers, automotive subsystems, digital cameras and consumer electronics, back up power for soft shut down requirements and wireless transmissions.

Boostcap® Ultracapacitor Cells are UL recognized, RoHS compliant and NASA space qualified.

The product is available in two case sizes, the PC5 and PC10, which are 4F and 10F respectively at 2.5V.

YEG Components Product Manager Trisha Kirkham commented, "We are delighted to be associated with the Maxwell brand. Maxwell have consistently pushed the boundaries of product performance and Boostcaps are the result of their continued commitment to product development."

US based Maxwell Technologies is recognized as a global leader in ultracapacitor design and manufacturing with facilities in the US, Switzerland and China.

YEG Components are part of the Young Electronics Group who distribute a wide range of electronic components in the UK and Europe, offering a value added service including design-in support.
